

ISC26 - BoF: Rethinking HPC User Support for the AI and Exascale Era

Which best describes your role?

If you selected "Other" in the previous question, please specify

Manager cloud

Research Computing
Facilitator

Marketing

National coordination organization

Service Delivery
Manager

Operations with some Support duty

CSA role

PM

If you selected "Other" in the previous question, please specify

Product Manager for tooling (NVIDIA Base Command Manager)

What in your opinion is the biggest challenge in HPC user support today?

If you selected "Other" in the previous question, please specify

Bananas

Black Swan events

Two much Standards

Competing with
YT/Udemy/Coursera/Claude Code

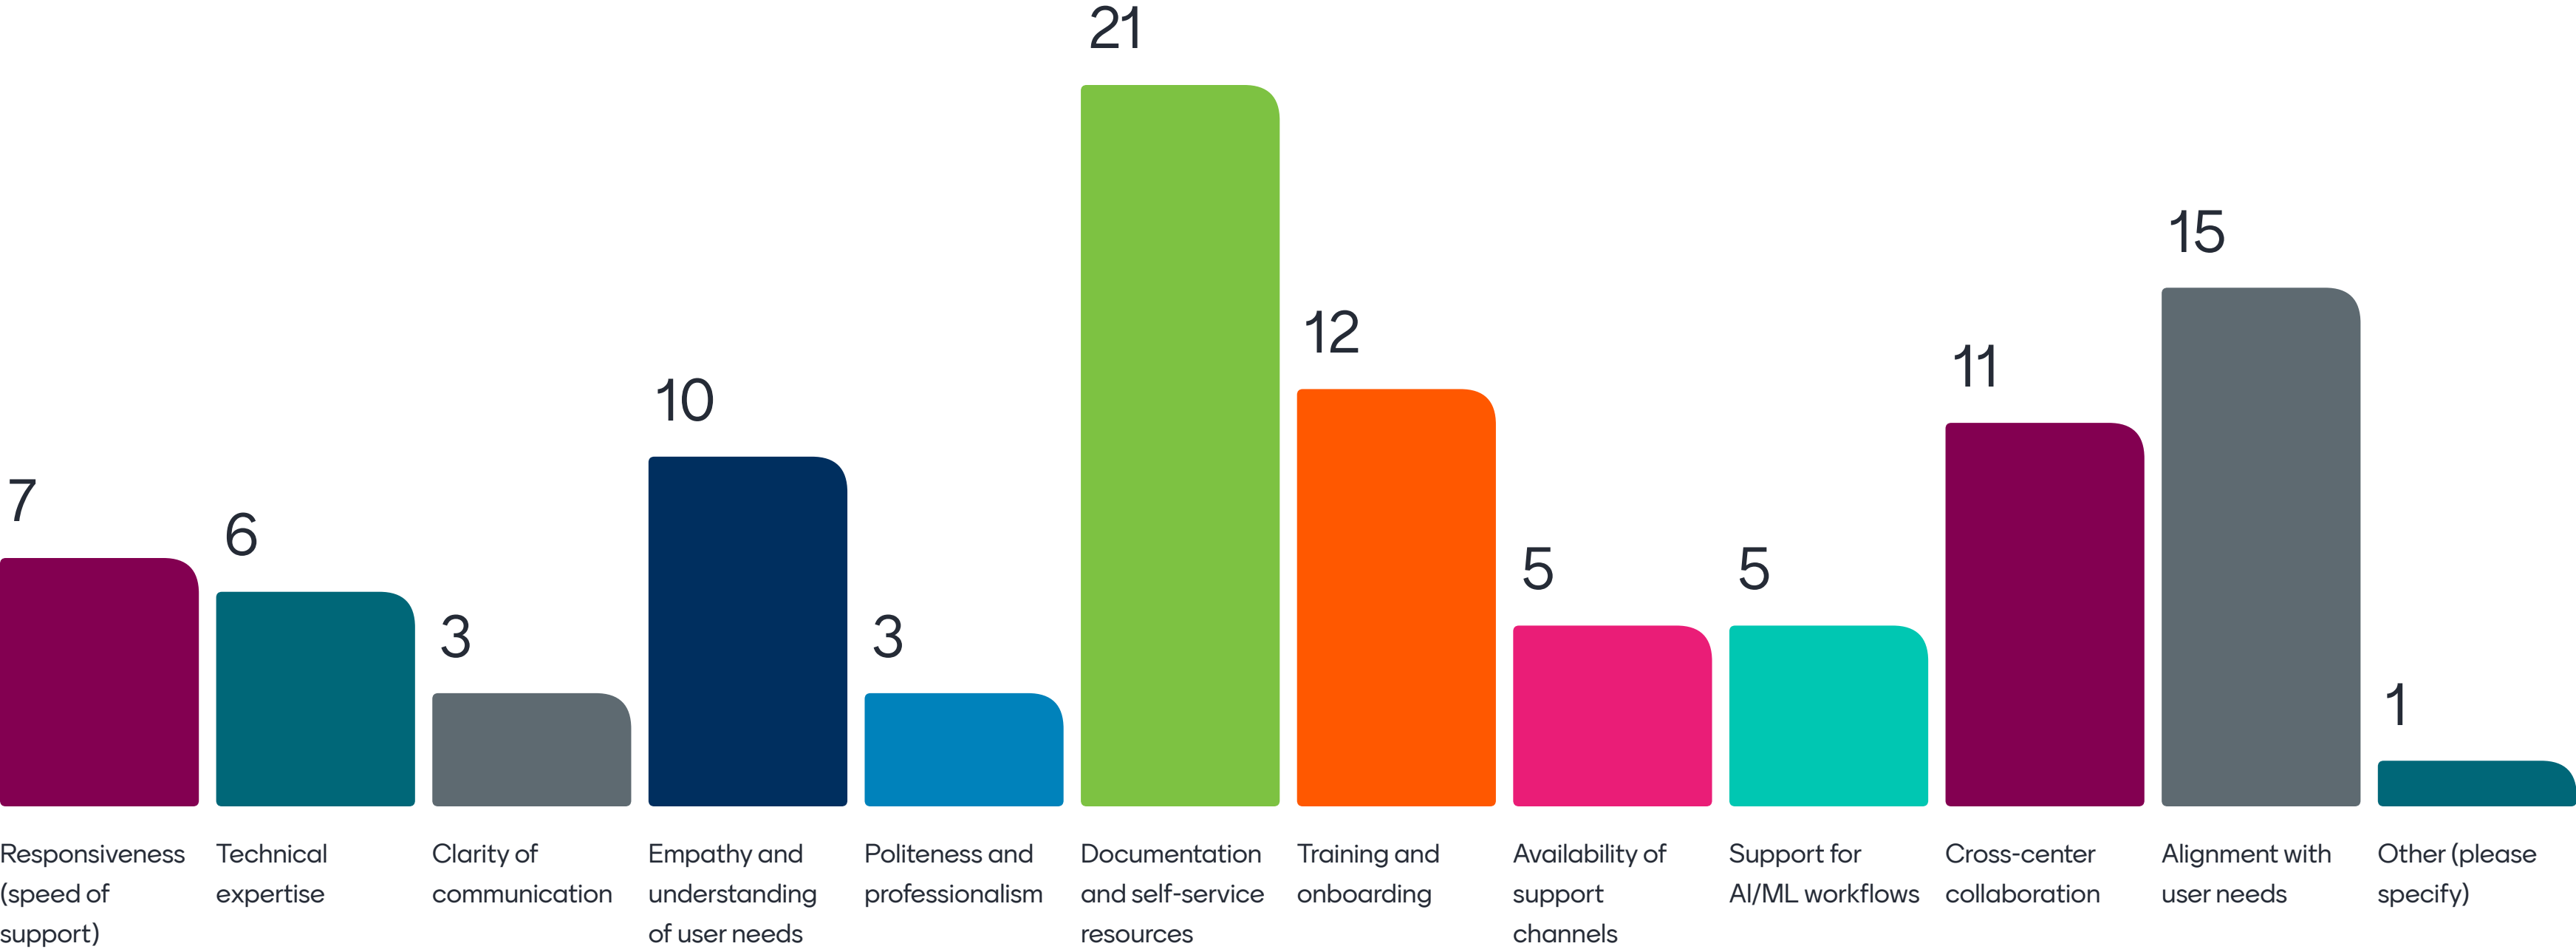

Hybrid workflow

GDPR compliant cross-centre colaboration

Good enough monitoring

ChatGPT has all the answers

From your perspective, HPC user support should improve most in (Select up to 2)

If you selected "Other" in the previous question, please specify

What was the question

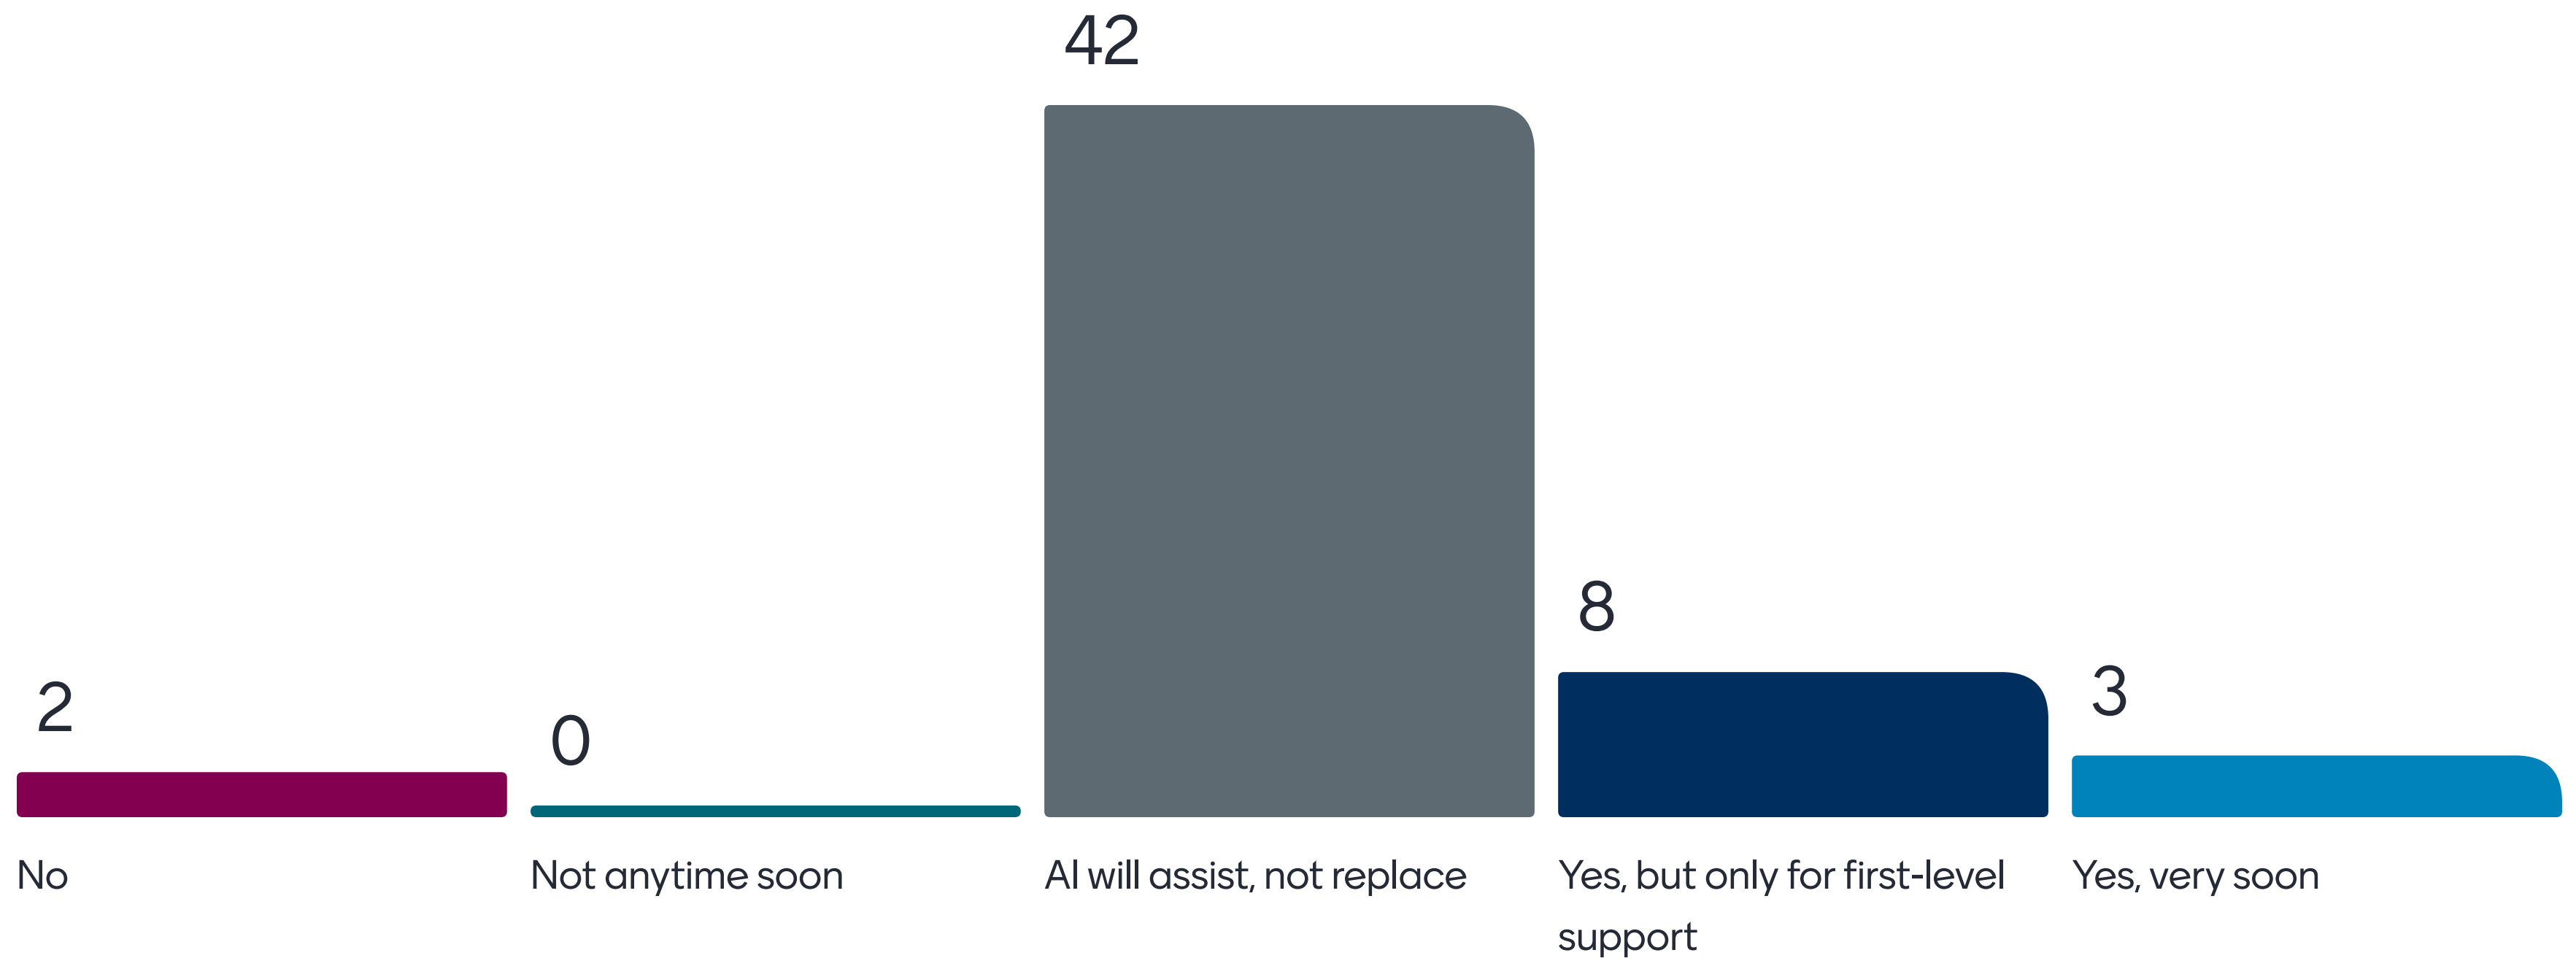

Bananas

Bananas

Anticipating and understanding the true user need. Not just solving what they're asking.

Root cause analysis for real fixes instead of workarounds

Do you believe AI will replace user support?

Provide one word that describes HPC user support today?

